RIPE Meeting Principles

- Open to everyone
- Bringing people together from different:
 - Backgrounds, cultures, nationalities, beliefs and genders
- The RIPE community is a safe, supportive and respectful environment

RIPE Meeting Code of Conduct (CoC)

For over a quarter of a century, the RIPE community's strength comes from its breadth of experience, diversity of views, and an open, respectful exchange of ideas – values that we want all of our RIPE Meeting attendees to uphold.

Please treat each other with tolerance and respect. Free speech and an open exchange of ideas are encouraged and celebrated. Demeaning, intimidating or harming anyone at the meeting is wrong. We are especially sensitive to behaviour that offends based on gender, sexual orientation, religion, race or ethnic origin, or other perceived social, cultural, or personal differences.

RIPE Meeting Trusted Contacts

- Please report violations of the CoC to our Trusted Contacts
- Approach Mirjam, Nick or Rob in person or email trustedcontacts@ripe.net

- www.ripe.net/participate/ripe/tf/ripe-accountability-task-force

RIPE Accountability Task Force

The RIPE Accountability Task Force was formed in October 2016 following a presentation at RIPE 73. The Task Force will examine the structures, documentation and processes of the RIPE community to ensure they provide high levels of accountability.

Scope

The RIPE Accountability Task Force agreed to:

- Review existing RIPE community structures, documentation and processes to ensure they are accountable and in alignment with RIPE values
- Document existing RIPE community structures or processes where needed
- Identify potential gaps where RIPE accountability could be improved or strengthened
- Publish recommendations for the RIPE community
- Identify areas where communications efforts or materials may be required

The scope of the task force is limited to an examination of the RIPE community.

RIPE Atlas Probes as IoT Devices

Robert Kisteleki — 20 Oct 2017

It's possible to look at RIPE Atlas probes from the perspective of IoT - a key element of the service is the physical devices deployed all over the world. Read on to find some interesting insights from this perspective.

Introduction

When we started developing the RIPE Atlas platform in 2010, Internet of Things was looming on the horizon, but at the time we didn't define RIPE Atlas probes as IoT devices. And yet, IoT devices they are. And what's striking is that many of the decisions we made back when we were designing RIPE Atlas turn out to be good examples for the development and roll-out of IoT devices. So, whilst RIPE Atlas is unique in many ways, we believe that certain ethical and design decisions that went into its creation might carry over to the design of IoT devices, providing potential examples for best practice.

Rob Blokzijl Foundation

- The objective of the foundation is to recognise and reward individuals who:
 - Made substantial and sustained technical and operational contributions to the development of the Internet in the RIPE NCC service region, or
 - Supported or enabled others with the development of the Internet in the RIPE NCC service region
